A sinuous and sleek 32-story office tower, the tallest building in the region, sits perpendicular to the Capital Beltway and creates a recognizable symbol for its corporate owner. A crystalline seven-story lobby punctuates the entrance axis connecting lobbies, urban public space and retail to both podium amenity and support spaces and the office tower. Staggered double height conferencing at corners reinforce the verticality and provide shared collaborative areas on each floor. The seven story podium also includes amenities and support for its tenants. The building is targeted to achieve a LEED Gold certification. A 350-key luxury hotel above below-grade parking will link to the office podium and complete the composition.
