

The Eden | Washington, DC

This contemporary four-story, condominium building offers a quiet and light-filled retreat in the heart of the vibrant Adams Morgan neighborhood. The playfully composed brick façade maintains the gently curving urban street wall and is sliced by a green-colored, metal-paneled projecting bay and topped with a lively roofline, prominently visible up and down the street. Eighteen light-filled one-and-two bedroom units are organized around two garden courtyards. The “puzzle shaped” building plan is configured to maximize the exterior exposure of each unit to carefully-composed courtyard views, maximizing available sunlight. Every unit has access to a private balcony as well as a green roof deck offering a connection to the outdoors and city beyond.
